

Greener House Investments PLC - PLUS market flotation brings healthcare opportunities to investors

Nexus Corporate Finance LLP (“Nexus”) and the Directors of Greener House Investments PLC (“GHI” or the “Company”) have launched a PLUS investment vehicle to capitalise on their considerable knowledge and expertise in the healthcare sector.

Nexus, in cooperation with GHI’s stockbrokers Daniel Stewart & Co Ltd, have successfully raised over £448,000 from founder shareholders and other private investors and the offer remains open for acceptance until further notice. With this initial funding in place, the intention is to admit GHI to trading on PLUS, thereby favourably positioning the company to consider prospective investments in certain sectors.

Key to this process is Nexus which is part of a wider group run by Harry Hyman, who has successfully built a range of businesses within the healthcare property and services sectors. Nexus has extensive contacts, resources and experience in financial transactions which it hopes will ensure a strong investment opportunity.

GHI aims to acquire a profitable business with strong management who have the skills to grow organically and through acquisition. It is likely that opportunities for the Company will be available in the areas of property and healthcare services involved in the contracting out of service delivery to the NHS.

Harry Hyman, Director, Greener House Investments plc, commented:

“The healthcare sector presents an abundance of opportunities for investors, a great deal of which are hidden under the surface and otherwise unreachable by many. Through Greener House Investments we are seeking new areas for investment which will be guided by our existing knowledge and networks. Working with Daniel Stewart and the resources from the wider Nexus Group, we see this as an opportunity to acquire a quality company and raise further funds, while investing in NHS service provision.”
